Talent Hunt Update

For those of you who missed our Top Cow Talent Hunt 2012, we thank you for your patience! Matt Hawkins is steadily plugging away at reading and reviewing submissions as well as sending out his feedback. If you submitted a reply then this page keeps in mind that he may not respond as a timely fashion as he is still going through other entries. For those of you still wanting to hear from Matt, we promise he'll get to you!

Creators' Corner

Welcome back to the Creator's Corner, where fans like you get to read behind-the-scenes on our Top Cow characters! This week, Tim Suckley offers us insightful details on writing for a book.

My best favorite part of writing is that the book doesn't end...and I have a great pitch and idea, because whenever I believe in an idea, I have to write about it. It's true that you have some great things, don't write a book, and then forget it.
