Another chance for you aspiring comic writers and artists to be published is here!

Enter in Top Cow's 2013 Talent Hunt for a chance to have your work published through Top Cow! We encourage those who entered last year, as well as newcomers, to join us in the search for undiscovered talent.

Four previously unpublished writers, and four previously unpublished artists will be selected from all who enter the Talent Hunt, and will work together to create their own published single issue through Top Cow. In addition, 10 runner-up writers, and 10 runner-up artists will be chosen to create short stories that will be published together in an anthology book through Top Cow.

The Talent Hunt runs from September 2nd, 2013 through January, 31st, 2014. This will allow plenty of time for artists and writers alike to take their time and refine their entries - something we highly recommend you do! The date on which an entry is submitted is not taken into consideration when it comes time to review all submissions.

To read all the rules and regulations, and download the submission agreement form and/or sample scripts, please visit our Talent Hunt 2013 Talent Hunt forum on The Barn. In addition to finding the aforementioned items, you can ask the Top Cow staff any questions you have about the Talent Hunt, talk with your fellow Talent Hunt creators, and share your own work for peer critique and review!
